

This information applies to the following Chiropractic courses:

- Master of Chiropractic, including Foundation Year

Important information about your course

Relevant experience and professional conduct

Experience working with the public in different settings is strongly recommended for applicants to the chiropractic course. This experience does not have to be in healthcare or chiropractic, but it should show that you can work well with people from different backgrounds.

Chiropractors work in primary care and must demonstrate strong values, including respect, compassion, teamwork, and a commitment to high-quality patient care. In your personal statement, you should explain what you have learned from your experiences and how they have helped you understand the chiropractic profession and your reasons for wanting to study it.

Further information about chiropractic professional standards can be found on the General Chiropractic Council's Becoming a Chiropractor webpage: <https://www.gcc-uk.org/education-and-registration>

Applicants with criminal convictions

To join this course, you must complete an Enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check before you enrol. If you have lived outside the UK for six months or more in the last five years, you will also need to provide a police check from the relevant country or countries.

Having a criminal record does not automatically stop you from studying at the university. However, the university is legally required to check that students who will take part in regulated activities, such as placements involving children or vulnerable adults, are suitable to do so, and also has a duty to protect the wider HSU student, staff and patient community.

Any unfiltered criminal convictions that you declare, or that are found through these checks, will be reviewed under the university's Criminal Convictions Procedure. You will be told the outcome. The university may withdraw an offer if a conviction is not considered suitable for the course, or if you do not take part in the checking process.

You should tell the university as soon as possible about any unfiltered convictions, cautions, reprimands, or warnings to avoid delays. More information about unfiltered offences is available on the DBS website.

You will need to pay for the Enhanced DBS check yourself. This cost is non-refundable. Further details and instructions will be sent to you before enrolment.

Placements may require a DBS check to be completed or refreshed, particularly if a previous DBS is not registered with the Update Service or has been held for an extended period. In such cases, an updated DBS may be requested before placement can begin. It is likely that any student who is not on the Update Service will need to purchase a second DBS check during the course of study.

If you are subject to any cautions, reprimands, warnings, charges or conviction during your time as a student you must declare these to the university immediately.

Pre-enrolment Health and Vaccination Screening

You will be required to complete a Pre-enrolment Health and Vaccination Screening prior to enrolling for this course. This is to protect the health and safety of the HSU community, including the patients you will be working with, and to ensure the university can adequately support you in your studies.

The screening involves an initial triage assessment with our approved independent Occupational Health provider. You will need to pay for the cost of your screening. Any follow-up appointments required for the purposes of placement will be covered by the university, but missed appointments, second opinions or recommended/mandatory vaccinations will need to be covered by yourself.

If the screening highlights any health concerns which may impact your ability to participate in your course or chosen career, we will contact you to discuss this. In limited circumstances it may be necessary to withdraw your offer.

Guidance for Applicants with a Disability or Health Condition

We are keen to support students who wish to share a disability or health condition and encourage you to discuss this with us at the earliest opportunity so we can support you throughout your enrolment and student journey. At this time, our buildings have certain areas that may pose challenges for students with mobility needs. If you have any specific accessibility requirements or would like information or guidance, please contact us at studentservices@aecc.ac.uk. Please see our Student Services pages for more information.

You may also wish to read the GCC webpage 'Studying Chiropractic' for further information: <https://www.gcc-uk.org/education-and-registration/studying-chiropractic>

Other declarations

You should also share with us- ideally within your application – if any of the following apply:

- Involvement in disciplinary proceedings during paid or voluntary employment or within education establishments.
- Involvement with safeguarding proceedings, social services, or related organisations.
- Enrolment on a health or social work professional course at another University.

Practical teaching

In practical classes, students practise examination and treatment skills on each other in mixed-gender groups. This involves physical contact with other students. You will need to wear suitable practical clothing, such as shorts and a sports or tank top. If you prefer, you can also wear a treatment gown.

If you have any concerns about this, you should contact the university before applying or accepting an offer. If your concerns relate to religion, disability, or another protected characteristic, the university will discuss reasonable adjustments where possible. Any adjustments must still allow you to meet the course requirements and professional standards.

For more information, please contact admissions@aecc.ac.uk.

Course delivery and clinical placements

Over the course of study, students will complete a minimum of 1,000 hours of clinical placement. Placement learning is an essential component of the course and is designed to ensure students meet the required professional competencies before graduation.

The overall pattern of placement activity will vary across the course. In the earlier stages of study, placement activity may be scheduled within the standard academic year structure. In the later stages of the course, particularly at Level 7, placement blocks will extend to run outside the standard semester teaching weeks. This means students may be required to engage in clinical learning at times that differ from typical on-campus teaching patterns.

Specific dates, structures, and detailed placement requirements will be confirmed ahead of each academic year and may be updated as part of ongoing course development and quality assurance processes. Students should be aware that standard academic-year accommodation contracts may not align with the placement requirements in the final calendar year of the course. Any associated additional accommodation or living costs should be considered and planned for in advance.

During clinical placement, students will be expected to:

- Attend allocated placement sessions and complete all required clinical hours or weeks of attendance.
- Work scheduled clinical shifts, which may include morning, afternoon, evening, and occasional weekend sessions depending on service need.
- Participate in academic teaching or supervision sessions that may take place outside clinical hours.
- Discuss any known commitments that could affect placement availability with the course team as early as possible.
- Seek approval from the appropriate course or clinical lead for any period of absence beyond normal sickness reporting processes.

Students should also be aware that holiday periods during placement blocks may differ from standard university vacation dates, and opportunities for extended leave will be limited to ensure clinical hours can be completed.

Students on placement are expected to behave professionally at all times and follow General Chiropractic Council \(GCC\) guidance, as well as university placement and clinical procedures. Appropriate dress and good personal hygiene are required when attending classes and while on placement.

Attendance

Chiropractic is an intensive course of study which requires commitment. Students are expected to attend a minimum of 80% of clinical skills classes, seminars, and science laboratory sessions and 100% of their clinic placement shifts. Student attendance is monitored to identify indicators on non-engagement which may result in poor academic or clinical performance. Should there be a concern, students may be contacted by their Personal Support Tutor (PST) under the School of Chiropractic's Student Support Framework to ask if they require any additional support.

Units and progression

The Foundation Year includes five core units shared with other HSU programmes and one Chiropractic-specific pathway unit.

At Levels 3–5, the course operates on standard 12-week semester blocks. A breakdown of units for each level can be viewed on the course website.

At Levels 6 and 7, students will complete substantial clinical placement activity. Placement blocks may run outside standard semester teaching weeks, and students will complete a minimum of 1,000 hours of clinical placement across the course.

From Years 1–4 of the Master of Chiropractic (Hons) degree all units are core and must be passed to progress. There is no opportunity to trail failed units.
