

Your opportunity to become a Student Ambassador

Health Sciences University is looking to increase its team of Student Ambassadors, Specialist Student Ambassadors and Student Services Student Ambassadors, also new this year roles within the Student Voice Panel representation.

If you're looking for a flexible way to earn money, gain valuable experience, inspire others and represent your university, becoming a Student Ambassador could be the perfect opportunity for you.

Benefits include:

- Earn money
- Represent your university
- Flexible hours working
- Get involved with different types of work
- Develop skills and gain new ones
- Enhance your uni experience
- A choice of three ambassador roles

Expression of interest

To put yourself forward for one or more of these roles, please email an expression of interest to explain why you feel you would be suitable to Peoplehelpdesk@hsu.ac.uk

Interviews

Interviews will take place in early October 2026.
We're looking forward to hearing from you.

"I wanted to be a Student Ambassador to earn money, meet new people and build my confidence."

Become a Student Ambassador

Find out more about the three student ambassador roles available below:

Student Voice Panelist New for 2027

We are looking for students from across HSU to enhance the student voice work we are delivering through our new 2026-29 Student Engagement Strategy.

You will work with the institutional Student Engagement Lead and SU colleagues to widen the representation in a number of key projects. These include Student Voice Projects, Compassionate Communications campaigns, mentorship, extra-curricular opportunities, cultural and integration initiatives and making policies and procedures student friendly. All ideas welcome and students will be given training and a choice of projects to join. You will also support the SU on panels and working groups in your subject and areas of interest.

If you are passionate about having a voice in your university and enhancing the experience of our students we need you! For further information please contact Lisa Bates, Lisa.Bates@hsu.ac.uk

Marketing Student Ambassador

Do you want to help promote the university by providing guidance and information to prospective students? Typically, these roles are to inform about higher education, the university and the courses we offer by supporting a range of events and activities both on and offline.

The level of involvement and the amount you'd like to work is up to you and could include some of these activities:

- Working on HSU Open Days
- Conducting tours of the HSU campus
- Representing HSU off-campus
- Supporting activities through digital channels, websites, forums or blogs – under the supervision of team leaders

Specialist Student Ambassador

This role is vital in supporting our Access & Participation Plan, helping to widen participation in higher education by delivering outreach activities, advice and guidance to young people from a diverse range of backgrounds who are under-represented.

You will get to present a positive window into the opportunities that higher education provides. The involvement and the amount you'd work is up to you and could include:

- Supporting Summer Schools
- Assisting with Science Festivals
- Acting as a positive and engaging role model for the young people we engage with

Student Services Student Ambassador

The Student Services Ambassadors assist the Student Services Team with projects, tasks and events.

We really value the student voice when shaping the service and support our students. Our ambassadors will also use their lived experience of being a student to input into our Student Forums to help shape the service and improve our events and future projects.

"I wanted to be Student Ambassador because I'm an international student and I would like to support other prospective international students."

