Things to remember

This information pertains mainly to private rented accommodation, rather than a guide for students living in halls of residence, although there is limited info about our partnership with Lulworth House and how to book below. There is also info on partnerships we have with local hotels for stop-gaps or short stays.

Remember - You should always view any accommodation before signing any tenancy or rent agreement. Do not go to view accommodation on your own – take a friend or fellow student with you for a second opinion.

Be clear about the rent and any additional costs such as bills. From 1 June 2019 most fees for tenants are banned (this includes fees for referencing, credit and immigration checks, administration and drawing up or renewing a tenancy). This applies to both landlords and agents.

Most landlords will ask you to sign an Assured Shorthold Tenancy Agreement. Tenancy agreements are legally binding documents and, once signed, will tie you to a property for the duration of the agreement—usually twelve months, although this may vary from property to property. Some landlords may agree to you leaving if you find another student to take your place, but this is not guaranteed.

It is a good idea to check the tenancy agreement to see if it has a break clause. A break clause is a term in the tenancy agreement that gives the landlord and/or tenant the right to end a fixed term tenancy agreement before the expiry of the fixed term period. It may not be called a break clause, but it should clearly state when a notice can be served and how much notice you need to give. If you wish to exercise the break clause, it is really important that you follow what the break clause says to ensure that the tenancy is ended properly. This will avoid the landlord taking action to claim back unpaid rent and to avoid possibly losing your deposit.

For more information regarding break clauses, please refer to Shelter: https://england.shelter.org.uk/

A group of students renting a house will usually be asked to sign one contract, which makes each student jointly and severally liable for the rent. This means that if one student leaves the others will be asked to make up the shortfall in the rent.

Many landlords will ask students to provide a UK-based guarantor (usually a parent or relative).

Before signing a tenancy agreement you should have received the energy performance and gas safety certificates and also the most up to date version of the ‘How to Rent’ leaflet. You should always read any tenancy agreement carefully and ask if you do not understand something. If the landlord agrees to make any repairs, or makes any amendments to the agreement, you should obtain written confirmation of this. The landlord should provide you with a signed copy of the tenancy agreement and inform you who to contact if any repairs are required.

You should ensure that arrangements for the payment of rent are clear, and that you are given signed receipts for any money paid to the landlord.

Most landlords will ask for a deposit, equivalent to one month’s rent, when you sign a tenancy agreement. Once you have given your deposit over to your landlord they must provide you with information on what Deposit Protection Scheme your money has been placed into. They are legally required to supply this to you within one month of you moving into the property. Your landlord must also give you information about the deposited sum and what form of protection it has. They should also give you their personal information such as their address or the one of any housing agent that they operate through. They should also inform you of any reasons that they believe would warrant the withholding of part or all the deposit and what you should do if you dispute their claim.
